Rev. Thompson will preach at Sycamore School House next Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Elder George Vercoe, of Waddy, filled the pulpit again on Sunday at the Christian church in the absence of the pastor, Elder F. M. Tindler.

The Baptist have purchased the residence of Mr. Silas Ashley for a parsonage.
Mr. Ashley and wife expect to move to Florida at an early date.

There will be an Ice-Cream supper at the Sycamore School House, Saturday night, August 7th, to raise money for the protracted meeting which is to be held soon.

Negro Killed.

Near the colored settlement, known as White Oak, in the Northern part of the county, Timothy Peters, colored shot and killed Geo. Smith colored, Sunday night. It is claimed that the men were drinking when the trouble started. Peters is in jail now awaiting trial.

Beautiful Services.

After some introductory remarks by Rev. C. C. Brown, Rev. Harvey Murdock, of Buckhorn, Ky., preached at the Union service in the park Sunday night. The music was much improved as there were four instruments besides an organ that assisted in it.

Commissioner's Sale.

At the Commissioner's sale of land before the Court house Monday, the following property was disposed of:
The 60 acres of land belonging to Chas. James Henry for $1832; the lot in Paint Lick, belonging to the Coyles; heirs was sold to A. B. Estridge for $550.

Closed Successful Meeting.

Eld. F. M. Tindler has returned from Waddy Kentucky where he has been holding a most successful meeting for the past two weeks. There were thirty-eight confessions made during the meeting, and great benefit otherwise derived from it.

Eld. Tindler will preach at the Christian church Sunday morning.

Methodist Church: Fourth Quarterly Communion.

The official Boards of Lancaster and McKendree Churches, will meet at the Lancaster Methodist church Saturday 2:30 p. m., July 31, for closing business of church year, Rev. D. W. Robertson, District Superintendent, presiding, Sunday Aug. 1st, 11 a. m. communion of both congregations at the Lancaster church.

Dr. Robertson will preach the park service at night.

Barn Burns.

We hear that Wilson Alexander's stock barn with contents, burned in Lincoln county last Friday. The loss is claimed to be about $1,200, while it was only insured for $500.

Georgians Attend Fair.

A suite of rooms is occupied at the Hotel Kengalan by eight couples who have come from Atlanta to attend the Lancaster Fair. In the party are Mr.
Otley, President of the Atlanta Horse Show and his wife; and Mr. Nim McCollough of the same Atlanta organization.

Berry-Pherigo.

Harvey H. Pherigo, formerly of Nicholasville, now a resident of Lexington, and Miss Margaret Berry, of Lexington, were married Wednesday evening at the residence of the officiating minister, Eld. L. J. Spencer, Nicholasville Tribune.

Mr. Pherigo once lived in the Buckeye section of this county where he had many friends.

Everything Ready.

This morning all is in readiness for the greatest fair in Kentucky. Horse men from all sections are pouring in and we expect to have the "best Fair ever."

The Balloon men are already on the grounds, as well as the owners of midway attractions.

Visitors may expect the most courteous treatment while attending the Fair, and not be worried about getting to and from the grounds, as an unlimited number of vehicles will be on hand for that purpose.

Cohen's Great Stable Will Show At Lancaster Fair First

Mat Cohen, of Lexington, will campaign a great stable of show horses this season. The stable makes its first show at Lancaster this week, and it is Mr. Cohen's intention to exhibit at all the leading fairs in Central Kentucky, at the State Fair, and at the Louisville and Chicago horse shows. A new acquisition to his stable is the stallion Red McDonald, the champion saddle stallion of the Kentucky State Fair last year. Other star performers to be exhibited by Mr. Cohen are Edna Mae, champion saddle mare of 1907-08, owned by Mrs. Mary McDowell Lowndes, of Danville; Princess Patricia, a three gaited mare, also owned by Mrs. Lowndes; Coppini, a four-year old gaited gelding; McIntyre, a walk-trout-canter horse, that was very successful on the show circuit last year; Lady Pearce, a champion road mare, with a public trial of 2:10. This mare has been exhibited at all the leading horse shows in the country except New York, and only two times did she meet defeat.

Analysis of an Umpire.

An umpire is a cross between a pirate, a kidnapper, a horse thief, a chicken stealer and a punching bag.
He is employed by a baseball league to give the players something to yell at when they haven't hit the ball quite far enough to reach first base, to give the audience something to throw at when the game isn't interesting them.

The umpire's duty is to decide whether the pitcher has put the ball over the plate and whether the runner has reached a base before the baseman has soaked him in the ribs with the ball. This would be as easy a job as re-arranging the tariff to suit everybody if it wasn't for one thing. Baseball players are very undisciplined and informal in their treatment of umpires.
So are baseball fans. After an umpire has been treated by a crowd of players and fans for a few minutes he generally has to be put together with liquid glue. Baseball spectators are very fond of arguing a decision with pop bottles, chair cushions, ball bats, fence boards, bricks, turnips, players benches and clubs. In some parts of the country it takes an unusually durable umpire to last nine innings.

Anyone can become a good baseball umpire after a few years' practice.
He must be able to dodge large and small objects from four directions at once, to hypnotize 200-pound players who are peevish by looking them in the eye and saying "10" in firm tones and to watch a baseball in front of him and a base-runner behind him at the same time. A good baseball umpire should be entirely deaf and should possess a voice like a megaphone. He should enjoy being hated by everybody, and should find a deep pleasure in being escorted out of the park by nineteen policemen while two thousand fans clamor for his gore. A very good umpire is regarded as a little worse than a grave robber by most everybody.
A very poor one is so much more unpopular that prominent business men sometimes bite holes out of the wire netting in front of the grand stand in their eagerness to get at him.

Baseball umpires sometimes live to a great age in spite of their unhealthy occupation, but no baseball umpire has ever been elected to a public office.
An umpire once ran for the office of Dog Catcher in Chicago, and some citizens got up at 5 o'clock and voted all day against him. He lost the office by 3,000,000 votes, though the population of the city at that time was scarcely a million.

Of course we don't mean anything personal, George, and besides this doesn't apply to the ones who umpire our games provided they give us a square deal.

THE NEW YORK OF THE WEST.

The Fair Cannot Be Told.

Seattle Washington, 7 19

After a journey of five days we reached this city, finding our daughter, Mrs. Noland, her husband and their two bright children in good health.
I do not use the editorial "we," but mean my wife and I. We are now in favor of expansion, and only such a trip can cause one to realize the magnitude and resource of our great country, which is capable of supporting and maintaining a population of more than 500 millions of people. In passing through the grazing regions of Nebraska and Montana, where residents live several miles apart, we were impressed with the fact that some of our home people should move to that section to be cured of the habit of talking about their neighbors, as they would not be thrown in contact them.
At Alliance, Nebraska, mountain time begins and we turn our watch back one hour. At Paradise, Montana, Pacific time begins, and the wheels of time are turned back another hour, though we did not expect to use a watch in Paradise. As it is earlier West, and the difference in time between Seattle and Lancaster is fully three hours, it follows that if you are retiring at 9 o'clock p. m., we are at evening meal here, corresponding to your supper, and when it is midnight at Lancaster we can read here by twilight.

Passing through a rich agricultural country and through the Rocky Mountains, the backbone of the country, we see a manifestation of the wisdom and goodness of God, in holding snow on the lofty peaks to melt, in season, and feed the streams that flow through the fertile valleys and furnish water for irrigating sections where the rain fall is not sufficient. Here we see a decided advantage over the farms of the Middle States, where there is a constant dread of a drowth or too much rain, as water can be used, in irrigating, as it is needed, insuring good crops and preventing the removal of soil, which impoverishes one part of a farm and enriches another part.

This city is backed and supported by rich agricultural, mining and lumbering regions, besides being connected, by Puget Sound with the Pacific Ocean putting it in touch with other nations, by navigation, and giving it advantages and possibilities equal or superior to those which made New York and Chicago what they are. In 1900 it had a population of 80,000. It now has 315,000, having gained 50,000 in the last year. It has business houses many stories high, manufacturing plants representing millions of dollars, palatial homes and, in fact, everything that exalts and embellishes civilized life. Thousands, from all countries, are attending the A. Y. F. Fair. Three large, fresh water lakes bound the city, one, Lake Washington, being 38 miles long, and many beautiful parks are within the city limits, and when properly known, it will be visited more frequently than Eastern resorts. Mr. Noland and I have crossed Lake Washington, visited four parks and seen much of the city. The finest fruit grows abundantly and it is said that, in some sections, an acre of land will produce 4 tons of hay, 60 bushels of wheat or 400 bushels of potatoes.
Kentucky's tobacco and hemp are not grown here.

The climate is delightful—warm (not hot) days and cool (pleasant) nights.
There are no buzzards, no thunderstorms, but few colored people and no tatters—the people being busy. Considerable capital is coming here, from the East for investment, and when it is necessary to do so to locate a factory the eternal hills are moved to make room. No better schools are to be found in the nation—eight new school buildings having been erected this year at a cost of $700,000. Tell my partner, Bright Swinebroad, that I am trying to get an option on 400 acres near town at $1000 an acre which will double in value in five years.

M. D. Hughes.

Cox-Hester.

On Thursday morning July 22, 1909, Miss Cassandra Cox and Mr. Virgil Hester drove to Stanford and took the train for Jellico where they were married at five o'clock p. m.

The bridal tour consisted of several different points in the state.

Miss Cox is the daughter of Mr.
Robert S. Cox an extensive farmer of Garrard county.

Mr. Hester is the son of Mr. Richard Hester one of Lincoln county's wealthy citizens. Mr. and Mrs. Hester will return home Friday July 30th. Their many friends wish them a happy future.

Dalton.

Little Essie Dalton, the younger daughter of Jas. H. Dalton and wife was buried at Goshen cemetery last Friday afternoon, after the funeral services at the Goshen church. She had been sick only since Sunday noon, having attended church with her father and mother.

She was a lovely little Christian character, ever shedding abroad the grace and beauty of her innocent pure heart. The community was greatly shocked and sought every means to extend sympathy and christian fellowship.

Elds. Tindler and Livingston as special friends of the family were with them and conducted the services.

The writer certainly appreciates the encouraging words from the former Lancasterian, whose departure was felt with regret by the entire county.
We hope that his trust in the following letter will be realized ere the three "score year and ten" mark is reached:

Base Ball Notes.

A large crowd watched us get defeated Saturday, by Lexington in a score of 6 to 4. The game was rotten from beginning to end, of course.

Monday we played London, and it was one of the best games of the season, many grandstand plays, but room prevents us from going into the features.
This game resulted in a score of 5 to 1 in our favor.

Yesterday's game with London was a good one but very slow the score being 3 to 0 in our favor.

say 100,000 will be present on have to be multiplied by four.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Republican party of Garrard county: I am the Republican nominee for County Attorney and will appreciate your support. B. D. Herndon.

We regret very much that our friends Messrs K. S. Brown and Alex Layton have been made to believe that there is a possibility of their election to the office of Sheriff of this county. These gentlemen, in order to comply with the resolutions of the Republicans printed in the RECORD several weeks ago, expressed a desire to have their names offered as Republican nominees, the former for Sheriff and the latter for Deputy Sheriff, before the first day of July. At a called convention last Monday, they were given the nomination. It only means two more lambs to be slaughtered.

There has been a time in the history of Lancaster when the good citizens were lulled to rest each night by pistol shots and rowdiness, but it has been so long ago that the least disturbance now, causes much excitement and sleepless nights.

About 3 o'clock Monday morning, after the excursion from Cincinnati came in, it reminded many of those old days.
Several shots were heard on the highways in the city limits, but after chief Herron gets through with them, they'll be sorry.

The promoters of the Jefferson barbecue were very lucky in securing the service of Congressman Ollie James to act as chairman of the speakers committee for the state outside of Jefferson county. In accepting this invitation he said he was willing to do anything to help the Democracy of Louisville to victory. One has said "This is going to be the opening gun in the fight to be made to redeem Louisville and Kentucky from Republican rule." May it be loaded to the muzzle and hit center.

After we have tried in our feeble way to make the Lancaster Fair a success, we think it nothing but right to attend it. As our regular publication day is Friday, we could not enjoy the Fair at all, were we to publish at that time. In order that the devil and his associates may take in the whole thing we publish on this, Wednesday, and hope it will be satisfactory to all.

People now days will steal any old thing, but the latest is airship larceny.

According to the statement of Thomas Hennin, of California, his assistant, T. A. Kindler, stole his airship from the workshop during the night and went "joy riding." The machine was found out in the hills and Kindler promised never to repeat his actions again.

The invitation, given Senator Jas.
B. McCreary to address the Tammany Society in New York, was a compliment to the grand old man, who is so close to the hearts of the people of Kentucky, and whose honesty and capability is so universally recognized.
We still insist that he be nominated by the Democrats for Governor next time.

We hope that the dispatches from Washington are true in regard to making our townsman, Louis L. Walker, District Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky. It would be very pleasing to his host of friends, and a more able man could not be selected.

It seems to be quite the fad, to cut up some persons body and place it in a trunk, since the body of a Greek was found last week packed in a trunk in Lynn Mass.

Impatience.

How weak we think others are to show impatience! It is so clear to us that impatience in others is a foolish waste of vital force, since it cannot possibly do any good, but we are impatient ourselves, and learn nothing from the folly of others.—Athenian again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep.

Simple Recipe for Beauty.

An old book says that if one will make a powder of elder flowers gathered on midsummer day, dry them and use a spoonful thereof in a good draught of water morning and evening for the space of a month it will make him or her young and handsome for a long time.

A favorite drink in the seventeenth century, alike with men and women, was known as "Tewahiddle." This beverage, which lived in popularity with the old English ale, was compounded of a pint of beer (or ale), a tablespoonful of brandy, and a teaspoonful of brown sugar or clarified sirup. A little ginger and a thin slice of lemon peel were occasionally added. Such a drink would probably prove insipid to the modern palate, but Lord Ruthven, in his "Experiments on Cookery" (published in 1654), declares that "it is a right Gossyp's cup, that far exceeds all the ale that ever Mother Burch made in her lifetime."

Unpopular Chauffeurs.

"He was originally a motor car driver, but is now a butcher," is how a defendant at the Kingston (Eng.)
police court was described. See how the appetite grows by what it feeds on. Still, we should not go as far as Henry Gilchrist, who was awarded two months for assault at Bradford the other day. Saying: "I'll wipe all the taxicab drivers off the face of the earth." He brought a taxicab to a standstill and struck the driver in the face, knocking out two teeth. Henry let his enthusiasm carry him too far that time.

Pests That in Their Numbers Are Invincible Destroy Crops While Owners May Only Look on In Supineness.

South Africa seems to be a paradise to the farmer until the locusts come.
The farmer has been planting wheat for five months, beginning with March, and he looks for an enormously profitable harvest in the midsummer month of December. After plowing and dragging for six days, he has put in a day or two sowing the wheat by hand, and has kept repeating the process until hundreds of acres have been planted.
There are fields of wheat in all stages, from the young green stalks to the yellowing heads of grain. It will be convenient to reap the crop in the successively ripening fields, just as it was convenient to plant it in instalments.
The farmer congratulates himself on a climate that makes this method possible. He figures that the investment for 25 bags of seed worth $150 will return him 750 bags of grain worth $3,750.

"Baas, die sprinkhaan kom" ("Master, the locusts are coming") says his Kaffir servant.

This is shattered the dream of opulence and success as the farmer drowns one hot, silent midsummer day in his iron-roofed bungalow. On the horizon over the distant range of hills lies a long, faint cloud. It is a dust-colored, narrow line, with a front perhaps 70 miles wide. It blurs the sharp outline of the hills in the African sunlight. This is a locust swarm as you see it first at a distance of 30 or 40 miles. In an hour the line has become a light brown fog drifting rapidly toward you.

The farmer is helpless in face of the advancing ruin and desolation. He can only watch the approach of inevitable disaster. The landscape is gradually blurred by the great brown cloud that spreads and mounts higher in the sky. Trees and houses a few miles off become invisible. The cloud shifts, with patches of dark brown masses and gaps of gray or light brown where the locusts are not so thickly crowded. A constant change of shape and formation gives an appearance like dense smoke belching from a forest fire. A sound like the distant breaking of the ocean steals into the silence. It is the whirr and roar of billions of wings beating the air.

The whirr becomes louder. Near-by green fields are shaded by the approaching visitation. A few locusts fly past. There is a sudden increase of the sound to a roar as the army of insects fills the air and their wings throb like a colossal dynamo revolving at terrific speed. The bright sun is obscured and the ground is in shadow.
A building a few rods away cannot be seen. Millions of locusts settle down, while other millions continue their flight. The ground is so packed with locusts that every square inch of earth is alive. Every blade of grass or wheat is attacked by as many insects as it will hold. A hundred locusts rush on one stalk, bend it to earth, and consume it in less than a minute. Within ten minutes the farmer's 200 acres of wheat have disappeared. Every blade of grass, every flower, every leaf on the trees is devoured. For hours, and even days, the maddening roar of the wings is heard and the unnumbered hosts continue their flight.

At last, when the plague has passed, nothing remains but a desert waste, naked of every green thing for hundreds of miles.

A favorite drink in the seventeenth
century, alike with men and women,
ied sirup. A little ginger and a thin
prove insipid to the modern palate,
clares that "it is a right Gossyp's
cup, that far exceeds all the ale that
time."

Unpopular Chauffeurs.
on. Still, we should not go as far as
that time.

Dr. Notts' letter arouses a storm of Protest. Sticks stoutly to statement Offers to put up money to back his opinion.

In a recent issue of this paper Dr.
Nott, whose fame is a matter of national recognition, stated that there was no cure for baldness. Apoplexy which is evidently not shared by all, otherwise the existence of numerous concerns that advertise to cure baldness, to put hair on a billiard ball, etc., would be imperilled. What Dr. Nott did state, as reference to the issue containing his statements will corroborate, was that he had never seen in all of the thousands of cases which have passed under his notice, one instance where the disease of baldness had been cured. But he did state as well that he cheerfully admitted that there were remedies that would restore gray hair to the color of youth, and that there were Hair Tonics which would encourage the growth of hair, cure dandruff and the ordinary diseases of the scalp, he referred particularly to Q-Ban Hair Restorer and Q-Ban Hair Tonic. Dr. Nott states that he will give to any charitable institution named $1,000 on receipt of any authentic proof showing that hair has ever been put on a bald head where the roots were dead. Since his last statement the druggists have in general laid in supply of Q-Ban Hair Restorer and Tonic. Any one who wants to win the $1,000 that the doctor offers, may send a letter to Q. B. Dept., Memphis, Tenn. He states and any druggist will indorse the statement, to the effect if six bottles of Q-Ban Hair Restore fail to bring a single instance to change gray hair to a natural color, that if the patient has used six bottles and the result is not as claimed, a letter written to Dr. Nott will bring back the money expended, and that if a six-bottle lot of the tonic don't increase the growth and strength of the hair, cleanse and put the scalp in good condition, money will also be returned.
You know your druggist—ask him.

B. E. McRoberts recommends and sells these preparations.

If you are gray haired or your hair commences to fade, you can have the first bottle free, simply call and ask for it.

For sale at all druggists.

The Ladies' Aid.

We've put a fine addition on the good old church at home;

It's just the latest kilter, with a gallery and dome.

It seats a thousand people—finest church in all the town;

And when 'twas dedicated, why we planked ten thousand down;

That is, we paid five thousand—every deacon did his best—

And the Ladies' Aid Society it promised all the rest.

We've got an organ in the church—the finest in the land,

It's got a thousand pipes or more, its melody is grand,

And when we sit on cushioned pews and hear the master play

It carries us to realms of bliss unnumbered miles away.

It cost a cool thousand, and it's stood the hardest test;

We'll pay a thousand on it—the Ladies' Aid the rest.

They'll give a hundred socials, cantatas too, and teas;

They'll make a thousand angel cakes, and tons of cream they'll freeze;

They'll beg and scrape and toll for seven years or more,

And then they'll start all o'er again, for a carpet for the floor.

No, it isn't just like digging out the money from your vest,

When the Ladies' Aid gets busy and say: "We'll pay the rest."

Of course, we're proud of our big church from pulpit to spire;

It is the darling of our eyes, the crown of our desire.

But when I see the sisters work to raise the cash that lacks

I somehow feel the church is built on women's tired backs.

And sometimes I can't help thinking when we reach the regions blest,

That men will get the toll and sweat and the Ladies' Aid the rest.

The Funny Side.

A—I used a word in speaking to my wife which offended her sorely a week ago. She has not spoken a syllable to me since.

B—Would you mind telling me what it was?—Filigende Blaetter.

Mrs. Wiggins—You heard the druggist say if you tried his pain killer you would use no other.

Mr. Wiggins—Yes; I heard him, and I saw him wink at the undertaker when he said it.

She (quoting)—"Love took up the harp of life."

He (absently)—And turned it to domestic strife.

When a husband likes to eat what his wife cooks and a wife likes to cook what her husband eats, they are affinities.—Dallas News.

An officer, at a state camp, decided to see for himself how his sentries were doing their duty. He was somewhat surprised at overhearing the following:

"Halt! Who goes there?"

"Friend—with a bottle."

"Pass, friend. Halt, bottle."

In Milk Street, Boston.

A young man who was in such a hurry to get out of the Milk street subway station that he forgot to exercise ordinary politeness, very nearly caused a serious accident yesterday about one o'clock. As he raced up the exit stairway through the crowd he brought his heel back into the face of an elderly lady close behind him. She gave a shriek of pain and fright and staggered backward. A man behind her was jostled and, losing his balance, also staggered backward. For a moment it looked as if a whole row would go down like dominoes, when a big man near the foot of the flight stretched out his stout arms and stayed the human avalanche. The indignant ones looked for the young man that they might fall upon and smite him, but he had disappeared.—Boston Post.

Law of Attraction.

The attractions of men to women and women to men are full of the most perplexing inconsistencies and contradictions imaginable. It is, for instance, a physical law that magnetism is not simple. Attraction of one thing for another, but the difference of two opposing forces of attraction and repulsion, of which the former is the greater. The same law holds in relation to the attraction of men and women for each other, in which, as a rule, the masculine is the superior force.

A Studied Explanation.

"Will you be able to explain your attitude on the tariff?"

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum.

"I'll have my explanation ready when the time comes. But I'll wait till my constituents are interested in other things and will carefully make it a little hard to understand."—Washington Star.

Helpful Literature.

"What books have helped you most?" asked the serious young woman.

"I don't remember their names," answered Senator Sorghum. "But they're the government publications I am permitted to present to my admiring constituents."

The closing-out sale of American-bred Jersey cattle, held by Dr. H. D.
Ridman, at Creekmore Stock Farm, near Shelbyville, was a decided success.
The eighty catalogued animals disposed of brought a total of $9,150, an average of about $114.

The third annual national Jersey cattle show will be held in connection with the Shelby County Fair at Shelbyville, August 25. A total of $1,000 is offered in premiums, which we believe is the largest premium list offered by any fair in America.

At present prices, a ton of butter shipped from Minneapolis to New York is worth in the latter city $800 to $700. To bring the same cash returns, about fifty tons of hay would have to be shipped; so dairymen make some difference in their freight bills.

The onion crop of 1908 in Southwest Texas netted the farmers of that part of the State $1,000,000, according to the manager of Southern Truck Growers' Association. As the business is a comparatively new thing in South western Texas, the growing of onions promises to enrich farmers to a still greater extent.

The farmers who have good crops of wheat this year probably will make more money than they have for years on their wheat. As a result of the recent rains which have greatly delayed threshing and the call made on the elevators, completely exhausting last year's wheat crop, it is selling at the highest price for this time of the year that has been known since the war.

Ghee is used in India as butter in American and European countries and in fact, is better so prepared that it never grows stale, instances being known of its preservation for as long as 200 years.

In preparing ghee, according to a recent issue of "Mechanics," butter is boiled until all the watery particles and curds have been thrown off by repeated skimmings. When the liquor is clear oil, it is poured into a vessel to cool. When cooled, it is in a granulated form and will keep for years without becoming rancid or of bad odor.
Ghee has been found in deserted castles, where it must have been left more than two centuries ago.

deadly disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a

Do you clear 6 per cent. per annum, one year with another on the value of your farm after paying for all labor including your own, and keeping up all repairs, and replacing all worn out machinery? If not, you owe it to your family and yourself to get out of the rut.

A manufacturing plant that does not do this well, soon goes to the wall, so how can you hope to fare better.
Thousands of Creamery patrons in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin and other states are netting 6, 10, 12 and 15 per cent on their farms, by raising herds

If others can do this,
Why not you?

Labor? Oh! Cut out that nonsense. If you go into the business right, you can afford to pay labor a price that will keep you in the best.

Be wise, build up a thoroughbred herd, and send your milk to the CREAMERY.

IT WILL PAY.

Little Hope for "Economy."

President Taft's temporary revival in Washington of the obsolete word "economy" in his scheme of government expenditures is as unpopular among the logrollers in congress as it is likely to be short-lived. From the way things are going in the extra session it is evident that as long as the Republicans control the congress federal taxation will not be limited to the needs of the government economically administered.

The Sugar Gouge.

Even if the American Sugar Refining company were a "good" trust—a philanthropic trust, giving half of its profits to charity—it should not be permitted by law to extract enormous profits from the American consumer and from the treasury. The high duties and excessive privileges granted the sugar trust in the pending bill are, from any standpoint, unwarrantable and indefensible.—Washington Post.

German Guns Superior.

It is claimed that the 11-inch guns, of which the new German battleships will have a main armament of 16 each, have such great power and endurance as to be equal or even superior to the 12-inch guns of other nations, and that the 16 11-inch guns of the new ships will be more than equal to the 10 12-inch guns of the British Dreadnought.

THE REAL DEMAND

REDUCE THE PRESENT HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Duties on Necessities Must Be Lowered Appreciably—Republican Party Now, as Ever, the Ally of Monopoly.

It has been estimated by experts that the cost of living has advanced about 40 per cent. since the Dingley tariff law went into effect. It must be admitted, too, that the standard of living has risen somewhat in the same period. It will also be admitted that as a country prospers its standard of living should advance.
Comforts, recreations and even luxuries should bear a direct relation to incomes in a wholesome civilization.

But under recent conditions, the cost of living has advanced so rapidly that the poor and those of moderate means have had to economize rather than expand their scheme of living.
While those who have prospered most have enlarged their expenditures accordingly, the greater proportion of the population has found the margin between the necessary cost of living and the slightly increased yearly income much smaller than was the margin between the smaller income of the past and the lower cost of living attending that income.

It is this decreased margin that has aroused the country and made insistent a demand for such an arrangement of the tariff as will bring about a foreign competition that will act as a wholesome check against the ex-actions of the interests that now control, through monopolies or quasimonopolies, the necessities of life.

No party has ever been strong enough to resist such a demand when it has once become a national voice.
And no party ever will be strong enough to stand out against such a righteous appeal. In one form or another, every revolution of great proportions has been based on defiance of the popular demand for popular equity. When a party in power in-curs such conditions as now exist in this country they will be swept aside —by new parties, if necessary—and a new order will be established in some way.

The government of the United States is so founded that there is little danger of violent outbreaks against oppression. But the desired result may be achieved. Members of congress may believe that the rich men who control the iron business, the oil business, the sugar business, the cotton business and practically all other lines of business supplying the unavoidable wants of the people, are more important than the people who make a market for the products of these enterprises, but there will come a reckoning for some of these men and the parties they represent.

If the country is betrayed by the present congress, if the duties on necessaries are not lowered to such an extent as appreciably to reduce the cost of living, business will not be permitted to enter into another long period of passivity under high protection.

Appeal to Selfishness.

Sugar is one of the sacred idols of the "protection" crowd. It yields a large share of government tariff revenues. But it is possible to retain these revenues under a scientific readjustment of the sugar schedule that would benefit consumers while slightly reducing the trust's profits.

Aldrich craftily parries this threatened blow at the trust by picturing the woes that would come to beet farmers of the west and south by tampering too much with the sugar schedule.
It is the same old story of playing one selfish group of interests against another. And the trust comes out with flying colors, as usual.

The KITCHEN CABINET

A MILKING SONG.

O BOSS, co boss, co boss!
Hear Molly call the cows.
Stops to milk a daisy at the edges of the croft.
Then resumes her gentle calling "Co boss, co boss." Unheeding they browse.
"Co boss! come, come! co boss!"
Not one will lift her head.
The columbine is swarming in its silken-hooded frock.
And the mullein makes a shadow fall as any al-penstock.
"Co boss, it's late," she said.

"Co boss, co boss, come, come!"
The night-shades climb the hill.
At last, safe home beneath the stars,
And Molly's lover at the bars,
And not a sound the stillness mars,
But song of whippoorwill.

"Baked Ice Cream."

To many, this sounds impossible, and it does savor of the wild attempt at novelty with which most of us have little patience. But for the curious, it is here set down as within the possibilities if done exactly as directed.

Use a thin slice of any good pastry.
Hollow out the center. Meantime, beat together the yolk of an egg and two ounces of loaf sugar, to a cream flavor with vanilla, and add in the stiffly whipped whites of three eggs.
Place in the cake a pint of any frozen cream, or ice, cover completely with the egg mixture, smooth with a knife, garnish with glace fruit and dust with sugar, and bake three or four minutes in a fierce oven. Serve at once.
The success of this depends upon the stiffness of the ice, the quickness with which it is made, and the heat of the oven. Serve immediately.

Vegetarian Beef.

Chop finely a half pint of any mixed nuts. Roll into powdered. Add a cup of boiled hominy, two tablespoons broad crumbs, a dash of chopped parsley, a hard-boiled egg, diced, and salt to taste.

Mix together, adding a raw egg to make it the right consistency to roll into shape. Place in a buttered pan, and bake. Serve hot with a sauce made of the yolk of an egg and a tablespoon butter, a teaspoon vinegar and a little hot water. Set the sauce in a pan and beat with an egg-beater until it thickens. This tastes very good like meat, and is an excellent substitute, the nuts affording plenty of protein.

ECHO THAT BEAT THEM ALL

Man That Told of It Had Not Traveled Far, But Surely Could
"Go Some."

"Echoes," remarked the Great Traveler, "are queer things. They're queer for two reasons—their cause and the vast difference in their sounds. Science has explained why there are echoes, but it can't tell why one should reverberate with bass tones in response to a shrill tenor yell, while another reverberates this, or responds naturally."

"I reckon you've heard a number of echoes," said the man, whose furthest trip from home was a distance of 41 1/2 miles.

"Rather. I recall one in Switzerland; the echo rolled for just four seconds, no more, no less. Then there's one in the Pyrenees that jumps six times, first loud and harsh, then low and soft, then loud again, and so on. There's one in the western part of Germany
